State of the Station

KEPW is proud to announce that last month we gave away tickets for two concerts at the McDonald Theater in Eugene. This was the first time KEPW has ever offered free concert tickets and we look forward to being able to reward our listeners with more tickets in the future. We had two winners who received a pair of Greensky Bluegrass tickets each, as well as two people who each won a pair of tickets to see Alvvays. This is exciting for us and we thank the McDonald Theater for making this possible!

KEPW is also now welcoming new students at our 2nd studio built in collaboration with Community Alliance Lane County (CALC) at 458 Blair St. Eugene OR 97402. Every Thursday from 6pm to 7:30 we are offering training there to youth ages 12 to 20. Soon we will be airing more LatinX programming produced from that studio by youth and others and are extremely thankful to CALC for providing space for youth to again share their voices on KEPW from there. For more information please call Johanis Tadeo at 541-337-4386 or leave a message at 541-485-1755.

Peace Luv & Solidarity,

Jana

Eugene Weekly's Best Disc Jockey

Mike Meyer was honored to come in 3rd place in the Weekly's poll for "Best DJ." He hosts Island Radio Earth. To be recognized for this show is especially gratifying as community radio takes creative risks to support such a show. There are no "green-positive" arts show anywhere in the world of which he is aware: creating a unique format of environmentally-based music & poetry has been continually rejected by public radio. Tune in to KEPW Sundays at 8 am for *Island Earth Radio!

Get to Know... Coast Range Radio with Michael Gaskill

Coast Range Radio, airing every Saturday from 2:30 to 3 pm on KEPW, looks to address the underlying causes of social and environmental problems and seeks to instill common understanding, foster social unity, and provide practical solutions. We make every effort to speaking directly to the connecting interests of people, communities and long-term sustainability.

Episode 46 features the role of fire in the Coast Range. Fire is, and always has been, a permanent part of our western landscapes and ecosystems, but the debate and policy prescriptions around how to protect our communities is shockingly disconnected from the science and on the ground reality.

In Episode 46, the director of an inspiring and powerful new film, Elemental, joins Michael Gaskill to talk about the realities of how we can co-exist with wildfires and create fire safe homes and communities.

Trip Jennings is the Principal & Founder of Balance Media, a National Geographic Adventurer of the Year, and has won dozens of awards for his past films. His new film, Elemental, has been met with rave reviews, and is changing the narrative around wildfires.

Coast Range Radio airs on KEPW at 2:30 PM.

NATO is Rehearsing for War

NATO is rehearsing for nuclear war: flying B-52 long-range bombers from North Dakota to Europe, flying practice bombing flights over Belgium, the North Sea, and the United Kingdom, and engaging in what NATO calls "a range of realistic and simulated events which can be found in a conflict." The danger is of provoking an actual nuclear conflict.

Eugene PeaceWorks voted to send a letter of Solidarity with Roots Action to demand Congress and President Biden to make NATO cease its nuclear war rehearsals.

A quick, easy way to email your Representative, Senators, and President Biden about this can be found at: <https://www.rootsaction.org/featured-actions>.
